A Message from the General President and General Secretary-Treasurer

We all know the critical role that equipment plays in our ability to do our jobs as fire fighters and emergency medical workers. Without the proper equipment, we are less prepared to confront the emergencies we see throughout our communities every day.

Being successful in the political world requires some essential equipment as well: hearts, minds, and money. As former IAFF General President Whitehead liked to say, “Money is the mother’s milk of politics.” We can sit around and complain about these realities, or we can roll up our sleeves and get to work by doing everything we can to get in front of decision-makers. Whether to city council members, a mayor, a governor, or the President of the United States, it is our job to educate and advocate on IAFF issues. No one is going to do the work for us.

FIREPAC is indispensable in that work. In the pages of this Special Edition of Fire Fighter International, you’ll read about the political victories your Union has scored across the United States. Whether it was an advancement in collective bargaining, better wages and benefits, or new equipment, the dollars behind the IAFF FIREPAC helped make it happen.

We’ve said it before, and we’ll say it again: the letter beside a politician’s name does not matter. If they are a friend to the IAFF – if they understand and embrace our issues – they have a friend in the IAFF. Our collective voice has never been more important, and FIREPAC helps raise that voice. It gives us the strength to fight on your behalf.

We must continue to play big in politics. And to do that, we need your help. We need your investment in all we are doing to increase our political power. FIREPAC makes the IAFF a serious player and opens doors to the people whose decisions affect our professional lives. Next to our families, there is no more important investment.

You will see a current list of all recent FIREPAC contributors. On behalf of our entire IAFF Executive Board, thank you to all our sisters and brothers who understand the value of this investment. Your commitment is greatly appreciated. To those who have not made a voluntary FIREPAC contribution, please consider joining our efforts this year. It is an investment in yourself. It assists the IAFF in supporting those who support us and in spotting our enemies. Any amount you choose to donate makes a positive difference.

Politics is far from the cleanest of games, but it is the game we are in. Our victories sometimes take years to achieve, but that does not weaken our resolve or stop our fight. FIREPAC keeps us in the game. We need your help.

BE YOU. BE STRONG. BE FIRE FIGHTERS.

UNITE. FIGHT. ORGANIZE.

FIREPAC

FROM THE WHITE HOUSE TO CITY HALL, FIREPAC SUPPORTS LOCAL, STATE, AND FEDERAL EFFORTS TO EXPAND FIRE FIGHTER INFLUENCE ACROSS THE U.S.

WHAT IS FIREPAC AND WHY SHOULD I CARE?

As long as politicians are involved in our ability to fight fires, fire fighters must be involved in politics.

Every decision about our job is influenced by someone who was either elected or appointed. FIREPAC empowers fire fighters and emergency medical workers to build relationships with decision makers and communicate with the voters who elect them.

FIREPAC is the IAFF's political action committee. It is funded by voluntary contributions from IAFF members that are used to support or oppose local ballot initiatives, state legislative efforts, campaigns, and candidates at all levels of government.

FIREPAC unites IAFF members for success by combining individual contributions into a single fund. It demonstrates the IAFF's collective power and makes it possible to answer the call when critical political challenges and opportunities arise.

JOIN THE FIGHT. CONTRIBUTE NOW.

FIREPAC is ultimately about securing and protecting rights and benefits for you, your family, and our union. Every IAFF member is encouraged to participate.

FIREPAC is a critical resource in fights for:

- Better Pay
- Collective Bargaining
- Better Benefits
- Adequate Staffing
- A Dignified Retirement
- Safer Gear
- Better Equipment

Visit iaff.org/FIREPAC or scan the QR code to join the fight.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

DOES MY DUES MONEY GO TO FEDERAL CANDIDATES?

No. Federal election law, regulated by the Federal Election Commission (FEC), prohibits the use of union dues money for the purposes of making contributions to federal candidates or to influence the public in a federal race.

WHAT DOES FIREPAC FIGHT FOR?

FIREPAC helps us hold and gain ground on issues that are important for fire fighters, such as the right to collective bargaining, healthcare, adequate staffing, a dignified retirement, better tools and equipment to do our job, and a safe work environment. FIREPAC supports these issues at all levels of government.

WHO CAN CONTRIBUTE TO FIREPAC?

Anyone can make a voluntary contribution to FIREPAC. However, federal law prohibits FIREPAC from soliciting contributions from anyone who is not an active or active-retired member, employee, or immediate family member of the IAFF. For the program to be strong and effective, all IAFF state and local leaders and active and active retired members are encouraged to participate.

HOW HAS FIREPAC HELPED ME OR MY UNION?

FIREPAC continues to pass collective bargaining and protect pensions on the state and local level. FIREPAC also elects pro-fire fighter candidates, including our very own members, who run for office. FIREPAC has helped win fights for fire fighters and emergency medical workers across the country. Together we have:

- Secured billions of dollars in federal funding to local fire departments through a variety of grant programs, including the Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) and Assistance to Fire Fighters grants (AFG).
- Established a first-of-its-kind national cancer registry exclusively for fire fighters.
- Defeated efforts to directly tax your employer-provided healthcare benefits.
- Passed legislation to officially recognize PFAS as a danger to fire fighters, secured PFAS blood testing for federal fire fighters, and support legislation for developing next-generation bunker gear.

I ALREADY GIVE TO MY STATE AND LOCAL PAC. WHY DO I NEED TO GIVE TO FIREPAC?

FIREPAC is unique because it harnesses the collective power of all IAFF members for heavy lifting at the local, state, and federal levels. FIREPAC is managed by the IAFF because there are contribution limits, so it's easier for us to manage and track the limits.

I AM NOT REALLY POLITICAL. WHY DO I NEED TO CONTRIBUTE TO FIREPAC?

At its core, FIREPAC is not just about politics – it's about your job, your family, and our union. Every leader and member is encouraged to contribute. If not us, who?

FIREPAC LOCAL WINS

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ACROSS THE U.S.

“NO ON ISSUE 1”

Ohio Association of Professional Fire Fighters (OAPFF) President Jon Harvey breaks down how OAPFF organized and campaigned to rally members against Issue 1, a detrimental ballot initiative.

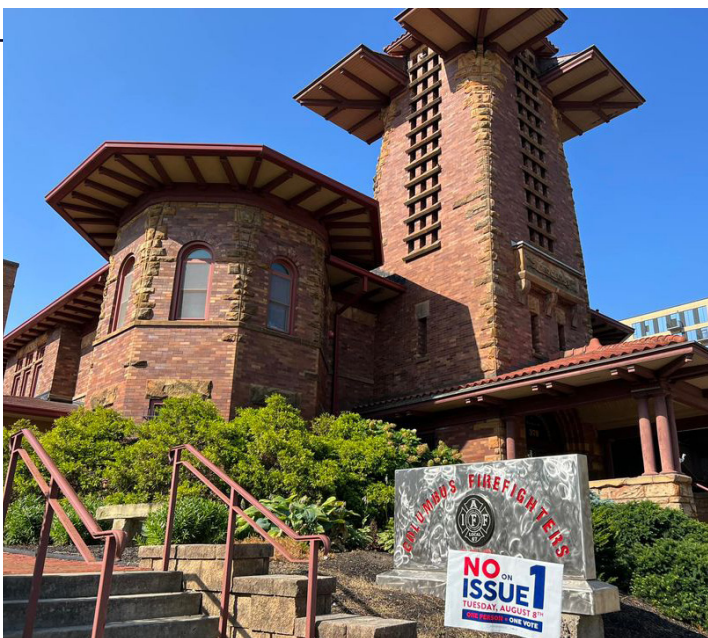

State Issue 1 – the only issue on the ballot – called for raising the threshold for constitutional amendments to pass from a simple majority to a 60 percent threshold. It would also require citizen-led campaigns for constitutional amendments to collect signatures from each of the state’s 88 counties (up from 44 counties). “It went from a percentage of people who voted in the last gubernatorial election to a percent of the registered voters in the state, becoming a threshold that we could never meet,” said Harvey. “So any constitutional amendment could never have been challenged in the state of Ohio.”

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT TO BE POLITICALLY ACTIVE AND TO UNDERSTAND WHAT IS HAPPENING IN LOCAL, STATE, AND NATIONAL ELECTIONS?

Issue 1 in August was legislation that got pushed through fast. There was not a whole lot of time to mount a ground game against it. Without that mechanism to be able to change it, we would have never been able to challenge it. Locals need to be involved in their state electorate, so they know what is going on. Also, with this legislation they try to tie other issues to it.

HOW DID YOU RAISE AWARENESS AND GET PEOPLE TO GET OUT AND VOTE ON THE BALLOT INITIATIVE?

We worked through the Ohio AFL-CIO; it was a total ground game. We had a company come in and did a lot of that for us regarding marketing and messaging. For us, it was important to stay on message. Not going into rabbit holes that the opposition tried to get us to go into, and just keeping everything factual is the biggest part of the entire deal. We also could not have done it without the IAFF and their generous contribution to the campaign.

MAYORAL RE-ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Shannon Whiteley, vice president of Indianapolis, IN Local 416, elaborates on the strategies and resources employed to secure the re-election of Mayor Joe Hogsett.

WHAT WERE THE KEY STRATEGIES IN MARKETING YOUR CAMPAIGN FOR MAYOR HOGSETT?

We organized fundraisers at our union hall, distributed endorsement fliers to our members, participated in Election Day activities at polling sites, and hosted or endorsed several of the mayor's events. It was about maximizing our presence and ensuring our members were aware of Mayor Hogsett's accomplishments on our behalf.

HOW DID YOUR MEMBERS REACT TO MAYOR HOGSETT'S RE-ELECTION?

Members were thrilled with the mayor's win due to his past accomplishments, such as the state-of-the-art health and wellness center, a new training academy for Indianapolis, inclusion of airport fire fighters in our pension system, and successful organization of emergency dispatchers with their first contracts.

HOW DID THE IAFF CONTRIBUTE IN TERMS OF RESOURCES AND SERVICES TO THE CAMPAIGN?

We secured a significant FIREPAC contribution. This financial support, combined with what we had already raised, played a pivotal role in Mayor Hogsett's successful re-election.

HOW DOES LOCAL 416 BUILD RELATIONSHIPS WITH ELECTED OFFICIALS FOR COLLABORATION?

We actively participate in fundraisers, attend city council and mayor's events, and make our presence known at council meetings. By working hand in hand with officials and engaging in city projects, we strengthen our relationships and contribute to the betterment of the community.

ANY ADVICE FOR OTHER LOCAL UNIONS BASED ON YOUR EXPERIENCE?

Presence is key. Actively engage, collaborate, and support those officials who advocate for the interests of your members. Working together ensures mutual success in achieving common goals.

REPUBLICAN FIREPAC STATE WINS ACROSS THE U.S.

Governor, Florida

FIREPAC has been a strong supporter of IAFF members running for office and IAFF-friendly legislators, including Governor Ron DeSantis in Florida. FIREPAC contributed to DeSantis's re-election for governor based on his stellar record supporting fire fighters across the state. During his tenure, he has advocated for pension improvements, a contract for Local 2117 Reedy Creek Fire Fighters, worker compensation improvements on cancer coverage, enhanced PTSD benefits, improvements to the Florida Fire Fighters' Bill of Rights, and multiple $1,000 bonuses to thank fire fighters for their services.

Florida's fire fighters are on the front lines of protecting our communities, putting their lives on the line for their neighbors in need. Their sacrifices make our state a safer place, and we are deeply grateful for their support. I will always have their backs, and I will never stop fighting for Florida's brave fire fighters.

— Ron DeSantis
Governor (R), Florida

Gov. DeSantis' steadfast leadership and support of Florida's fire fighters and paramedics has earned the respect of our members, and the Florida Professional Fire Fighters looks forward to working together in his next term.

— Wayne Bernoska
President, Florida Professional Fire Fighters

Our loyalty as fire fighters is to each other and our families. Any elected official who is going to help us work as safely as possible in this inherently dangerous job, and take care of our loved ones, earns that same loyalty. Gov. DeSantis has done just that in Florida. The 344,000 members of the IAFF don't support Republicans or Democrats; we support those that support us.

— Edward A. Kelly
General President, IAFF

OTHER NOTABLE REPUBLICAN FIREPAC STATE WINS

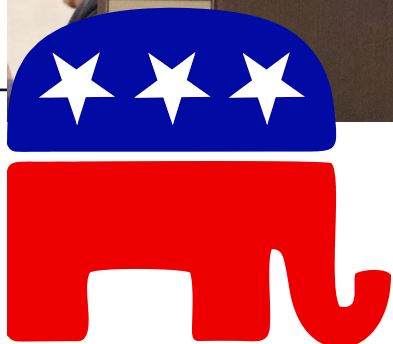

North Carolina

FIREPAC has invested in several North Carolina Republican legislators, helping the Professional Fire Fighters and Paramedics of North Carolina (PFFPNC) have a seat at the negotiation table during their legislative season with assistance from Appropriations Chair Jason Saine and Speaker Tim Moore. Contributions from FIREPAC helped build relationships with these legislators which played a key role in extending cancer benefits for fire fighters across the state and to pass civil service laws for fire fighters in Greensboro and Winston-Salem.

Idaho

The Professional Fire Fighters of Idaho (PFFI) reached out to the IAFF for FIREPAC assistance to aid influential republican legislators, Governor Brad Little and Lt. Governor Scott Bedke, with their re-election campaigns. With FIREPAC and the IAFF behind them, the PFFI won workers' compensation coverage for post-traumatic stress injuries for first responders across the state.

DEMOCRAT FIREPAC STATE WINS ACROSS THE U.S.

Governor, Kentucky

FIREPAC contributed to Governor Andy Beshear, who has been a staunch supporter of fire fighters across Kentucky. He has signed many pieces of legislation benefiting fire fighters across the state, including House Bill 562, which provides fire fighters and law enforcement officers a 48-hour leave after they are involved in a critical incident. The bill also redefines a critical incident as any event with a stressful impact sufficient to overwhelm one's usual coping strategies. These include officer-involved shootings, serious vehicle crashes, the death of a colleague or partner, and other circumstances.

Governor Beshear was the most popular Democratic governor in the country in 2023. Although Beshear won re-election, Kentucky remains a solidly red state. Republicans hold supermajorities in both chambers of the legislature and the state's congressional delegation, including both U.S. Senate seats.

The Kentucky Professional Fire Fighters have supported Andy Beshear in every state-wide office he has sought AND won (Attorney General 2016–2020, Governor 2020–2024, and re-election in 2024). In his time as Governor, he has advocated for training incentive increases, PTSD treatment, and pension benefits for fire fighters, as well as opposing attacks on unions here in the Commonwealth.

— Joe Baer
President, Kentucky Professional Fire Fighters

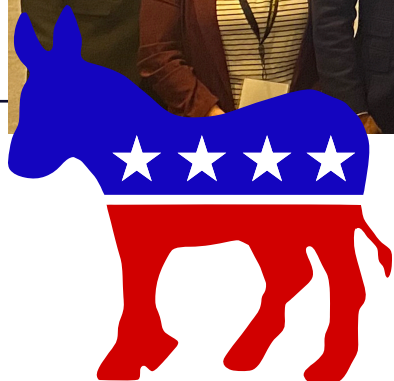

OTHER NOTABLE DEMOCRAT FIREPAC STATE WINS

Virginia

Virginia professional fire fighters had much to lose this past election, most importantly collective bargaining, if Republicans took over the legislature. FIREPAC contributed heavily across the state in competitive races in Hampton Roads, Richmond, and other Washington, D.C. suburbs.

House Democratic Leader Don Scott, now Speaker of the House, was first elected to the House of Delegates 80th District Portsmouth in 2019, promised voters and our Virginia fire fighters that he would protect and defend workers' rights across the state. Virginia fire fighters can pass a local ordinance to secure collective bargaining since the last democratically controlled legislature in May 2021 passed HB 582 Employees of Local Governments; Collective Bargaining.

With every seat in the Virginia General Assembly on the ballot, Democrats took control of the House of Delegates, maintained their majority in the Senate, and captured total control of the legislature.

Ensuring our members have collective bargaining is a top priority for the IAFF. The collective bargaining process creates a structured environment for employers and employees to discuss workplace issues and terms and conditions of employment through collaboration and mutual respect.

Under General President Kelly's direction, the IAFF created the National Collective Bargaining Initiative and hired a coordinator for the program in 2022. While developing the targets for the program, it was rediscovered that there were states, such as Alabama and Georgia, that had provisions in their state statutes or constitutions allowing fire fighters the right to bargain collectively. These states, deemed as "Right to Work" and non-collective bargaining, have largely been dismissed in the labor movement. The general assumption was that it would be impossible to achieve any notable gains in union density.

However, after thorough research, clarification with the IAFF legal team, and landscape assessments conducted with DVPs and state and local presidents, five states were identified for focused collective bargaining efforts: Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Virginia.

We have seen significant collective bargaining wins across the south and the momentum is just picking up. Here are some highlights from 2023 and your IAFF is fired up for 2024!

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING WINS ACROSS THE U.S.

Athens-Clarke County, GA Local 2795

In an impressive display of solidarity, the Professional Fire Fighters of Athens-Clarke County Local 2795 successfully lobbied Athens-Clarke County to pass an ordinance enacting Georgia State Statue 25-5, the Firefighters' Mediation Act. The ordinance gives fire fighters the right to collectively bargain with their employer. The Firefighters' Mediation Act was written and shepherded by Commissioner Jesse Houle. The vote passed 9 to 1 in June 2023.

"It was inspiring to witness members of Local 2795's relentless commitment to educating their city council and within their community," said 12th District Vice President Walt Dix. "Their hard work and dedication to organizing paid off in a major way, and I congratulate our Local 2795 members on a job well done."

The Firefighters' Mediation Act, passed in 1971 during Jimmy Carter's time as governor, has had a lasting impact on Georgia's fire fighters. To enact the statute, an ordinance must be passed by the local governing authority. South Fulton and Atlanta are the only other cities in the state to have successfully passed a Title 25 ordinance, granting their fire fighters the right to collective bargaining.

What began two years ago as a simple dues collection request to the county from newly elected Local 2795 President Emily Thompson Alger turned into a lengthy and ultimately successful campaign, with local leadership, members, and the community lobbying the city council on the benefits of collective bargaining.

“I am so proud of the work our local put in to make our voices heard. We worked diligently with IAFF staff to develop a strategy to establish relationships with all our commissioners on both sides of the aisle,” said Thompson Alger. “We invested in organizing our members, developed a communications strategy, and met with citizens, business owners, and commissioners, and answered all their questions. It was a lot of meetings, late nights, and work, but we did it, and Athens-Clarke County will be better and safer for it.”

New Orleans, LA Local 632

The New Orleans City Council unanimously voted 7-0 to codify collective bargaining into city law. While New Orleans Local 632 already had the right to collective bargaining, this law extends that right to all city employees and adds binding arbitration. The vote was passed in June 2023 and the new law went into effect in January 2024. Local 632 built coalitions with other employee groups in New Orleans and cultivated good working relationships with the city council members to help pass this ordinance.

Until the ordinance was passed, New Orleans Local 632 was the only union allowed to bargain collectively; however, without binding arbitration, ongoing disputes with the city have prevented the local from successfully negotiating a new contract since 2011.

“We were proud to fight side by side with our city employees as they sought collective bargaining rights. We strongly believe they should be afforded to everyone,” said Local 632 President Aaron Mischler. “And now that we will be able to go to arbitration, I am looking forward to finding resolutions on our outstanding issues.”

Portsmouth, VA Local 539

Portsmouth IAFF Local 539 became the latest Virginia local to secure collective bargaining rights for their members in November 2023. The resolution was passed 4-2, and now the council must bring forth an ordinance to outline the scope of bargaining allowed per the Virginia law that was passed in 2021.

This was a hard-fought battle by the local, and they were successful thanks to their dedication to building relationships with elected officials and engaging with their community. They faced opposition from city bureaucrats who spread lies about what collective bargaining would cost Portsmouth.

IAFF Local 539 President Kurt Detrick stated, “The collective bargaining ordinance aims to strengthen the rights and protections of the hardworking men and women who serve our community.”

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

IAFF MEMBERS IN OFFICE

Developed through FIREPAC, the IAFF's A. Michael Mullane Political Training Academy educates and assists campaign veterans and political newcomers alike on how to run for elected office, manage a political campaign, or direct an affiliate's political action program.

IAFF members or family members running for public office, managing a campaign, or implementing a political program for an IAFF local can apply to the training held annually in May.

Taught by outside campaign experts and IAFF staff, the week-long training includes classroom seminars, small-group skill practice sessions, and a full campaign simulation. Topics include how to write an effective campaign plan, finance compliance law, and how to target voters among others.

We spoke to a few IAFF members about why they chose to run for office and what they did to prepare.

NICK HANEY Surprise, AZ City Council District 1

Phoenix Local 493 member Nick Haney attended the IAFF's A. Michael Mullane's Political Training Academy in March of 2022. This was a year before he intended to run for public office, allowing him time to plan his city council race in Surprise, AZ. FIREPAC immediately helped our member by directly contributing to his campaign.

District 1 is the geographically most significant and fastest-growing district in Surprise. Haney, at the age of 27, took on two other opponents in the August 2022 primary. This was an open seat because the incumbent did not collect enough signatures to make the ballot. Unlike his opponents, Haney was raised in Surprise and was a one-time member of the Surprise Youth Council, demonstrating his deep community roots. After graduating from Arizona State University, he became and currently is a Glendale fire fighter/paramedic.

In the first district race, one candidate would need 50 percent or more in the three-way race to avoid a runoff election. Nick surprised most people by securing 53 percent of the vote in the primary, becoming the winner outright. In winning, the local news cited his fundraising advantage over the other two candidates, which was spurred by a FIREPAC donation, and Haney himself noted the work that he and his volunteers did in canvassing to knock on doors.

WAYNE FOURNIER

Thurston County, WA District 4

About 15 miles south of Washington's state capital of Olympia is a small town named Tenino that sits within the county of Thurston. Just shy of 2,000 people, Tenino is a town that has seen double digit percentage growth since 2000. This is where Wayne Fournier, a member of IAFF Local 315 Central Grays Harbor Professional Fire Fighters who works in the city of Aberdeen, was born and raised. He graduated from Tenino High School, South Puget Sound Community College with an associate's degree, and from Washington State University with his bachelor's degree in 2005.

In 2012, Fournier first took office as a city council member of Tenino's Position 5. He served there from 2012 through 2015. In 2015, Fournier ran and was elected to serve as the mayor of Tenino from 2015 through 2023. FIREPAC supported his campaign with a direct donation.

While serving as mayor, Fournier attended the IAFF A. Michael Mullane Political Training Academy in 2019 to obtain more training in elections and politics. In 2023, Fournier found himself setting his sights on a much larger elected office of the newly created 4th commissioner district in Thurston County. Thurston County has been growing rapidly since 2000, seeing a county population rise from around 200,000 people to just shy of 300,000. This led the citizens to expand the county board from three to five seats.

Fournier lived in the newly created 4th district and decided to run in 2023. As created, the District 4 seat will serve a one-year partial term and then need to run again to fill the staggered next full-year term on the board. FIREPAC again supported Fournier with a direct donation to his campaign for Commissioner of District 4. In 2023, he came in second in the primary, which resulted in him running in a two-way general election that had 73,641 people turn out to vote. He won by 508 votes.

Commissioner Fournier will now look to make a difference in his county for a year before running again for a full term.

RONALD STEWART

Oklahoma State Representative, District 73

In May 2023, Ronald Stewart of IAFF Local 176 Tulsa, Oklahoma, attended the IAFF's A. Michael Mullane Political Training Academy. He was looking to broaden his political and campaign skills to prepare for a run for office. In September, Stewart will be on the ballot and has declared his candidacy for state representative of District 73. FIREPAC showed the IAFF's support by donating directly to his campaign for state representative.

Stewart has been a lifelong resident of the district; he attended Tulsa public schools and was the first person in his family to attend college. He received both a bachelor's degree and a master's Degree from Langston University. He has been a mentor and tutor and has worked as a fire fighter for 18 years, with most of those years serving the community in District 73.

Stewart looks to fill the open state house seat vacated by the current candidate who is running for a state senate seat, which represents the same but larger area.

HISTORY OF PACS

Did you know that political action committees (PACs) originated in the labor movement?

The first PAC was created by the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) in 1943, after Congress prohibited unions from directly contributing to federal elections during the war.

The CIO member unions responded by forming a voluntary PAC to support pro-labor candidates and legislation. The PAC later merged with the Labor's League for Political Education and became the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

The labor movement had forged a new political path for collective power that did not depend on a political party. Decades later, Congress authorized and regulated the use of PACs, and the floodgates were opened. It didn't take long for other interest groups to catch up.

There were only 608 PACs registered in 1974, and most were connected to labor and trade organizations. The IAFF joined these ranks by establishing the International Association of Fire Fighters Interested in Registration and Education (FIREPAC) in 1978.

There are now more than 9,000 federally registered PACs, and less than one third of them are connected to labor. The responsibility of balancing this multitude of interests and squaring them into broadly-appealing platforms once belonged to political parties. Over time, much of the burden has shifted to candidates.

We now face two challenges:

1. How can we ensure the needs of fire fighters are heard above all the noise?
2. And how will we sustain the attention of officials, candidates, or voters who are increasingly pulled in different directions?

There is one answer to both challenges:

Create durable and sustainable legislative and political operations, and support them with a PAC strengthened by the robust collective participation of IAFF members.

PAC and lobbying operations are not the same, but they often work hand in hand. PACs relate to political campaigns and organizations, while lobbyists work with legislatures and governing authorities. Federal PAC funds can be leveraged at all levels of government to help elect supportive candidates, hold elected officials accountable, communicate directly with voters, or gain access when other efforts have failed.

There is a widespread misconception that political spending and lobbying are secretive and unfettered. The truth is that both lobbying and PAC activity are regulated and publicly disclosed by federal and state agencies. And the right to petition the government is enshrined in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

PACs also have regular reporting requirements and limits on how much can be raised from an individual donor ($5,000 per calendar year), or disbursed to a federal campaign ($5,000 per election). A PAC can make unlimited contributions to an Independent Expenditure committee, but it still must be reported. These limits look like a lot of money, but they are small compared to the millions of dollars that federal campaigns can cost.

This transparency and regulation help avoid any possibility of corruption without compromising access. In addition to these requirements, FIREPAC submits a detailed list of all disbursements to the IAFF Board at each quarterly meeting.

LOOKING FORWARD

A message from Political Director Tim Dupin

The 2024 elections will decide much more than the presidency. There are 35 U.S. Senate races, 435 U.S. House races, 11 gubernatorial seats, 5,793 state legislative seats, and countless mayoral races and ballot initiatives.

Across these contests, FIREPAC will support IAFF affiliates in important ways where it counts. Together we will work to hold ground where it's needed and make progress where possible. And we will stay true to the sole principle of FIREPAC: help those who help fire fighters.

During the 2023 calendar year, nearly 30% of FIREPAC disbursements were made to non-federal political efforts. This reflects the IAFF's robust and sustained commitment to prioritizing the needs of state and local affiliates.

By combining individual donations into a single fund, FIREPAC demonstrates the collective power of fire fighters and makes it possible to turn out wherever the need or opportunity arises.

The bottom line is that FIREPAC is about securing and protecting rights and benefits for you, your family, and your union. Contributing is an easy, meaningful way to take action and join the effort.
